

Park rules

- Only use the park after taking a good look around it first.
- Never use the park alone.
- Be aware of other park users at all times.
- Before you approach a box or attempt a jump, ensure that the approach, take-off and landing areas are clear.
- When using a park element where it is difficult to see if it is clear, ask a second rider to give you an all-clear hand signal first.
- Do a few basic airs before attempting anything more difficult.
- After using a park element, leave the landing and exit area immediately.
- Walking in the park: always walk up the marked edge of the park so that the landing and exit areas are kept clear.
- Only ski, snowboard and jump in accordance with your current level of fitness and concentration.
- Always wear a helmet and other protective gear; this helps protect you all the time, not just when attempting something more daring.

You use the Corvatsch Park at your own risk. Corvatsch AG accepts no liability and will not be held liable for any claims.